PROFILE

I am a well organised individual who is looking for a start in a new career, having been off work for some time due to health problems I am ready to embark on a new journey where I can learn new skills and finding a new path in my life.

I have enjoyed working with people in the past, I have some supervisory experience as I was working in a role that needed staff supervision.

I am a reliable and dependable person having to work as a person in charge of the shift, where I had to make decisions about the staff, residents or the home itself.

I enjoy working on my own as well as a part of a team and I find that my relaxed approach helps in many situations that arise in daily life.
